International Trade Agreements TPP, etc.

For:

Yes. The TPP betters not only the American economy but also global issues like financial regulation, innovation, climate change and more.

...

Against:

No. The TPP is a far too risky agreement that benefits primarily large multinational corporations and reduces competition in the market for life-saving prescription drugs.

In a panel discussion with proponents and opponents of free trade agreements we will try to shine some light on what the advantages and disadvantages of such agreements are. Do the benefits outweigh the risks? Are we selling our democracy to international corporations that are accountable to nobody or are the critics exaggerating the dangers?

Ted J. Vlamis, presently Vice President at Pioneer Balloon Company, oversees Pioneer's facilities in Hamilton, ON, Canada. Puebla, Pue., Mexico, Acatlán de Juárez Mexico, Bishop's Stortford, UK, Sydney, Australia, and Jundiai, Brazil, and will speak for the TPP.

Another panelist will speak against the TPP.
